Autistic Experiences in Physical Activity or Exercise Research Needed

Who Can Participate?

- Adults and children who identify as autistic or have a diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder and have participated in physical activity or exercise research study
- Parents, caregivers, family members, or other informants of an autistic person who has participated in physical activity or exercise research study
- Located in the United States
- Able to read and understand English

What To Expect:

- You will complete an online survey about things such as:
  - What you liked or disliked about the research experience
  - How researchers communicated with you
  - Things that made participating easier or harder
  - Sensory experiences and accommodations
  - What researchers could do differently in the future
- There will be 65-80 questions and it will take around 15-60 minutes

Please email us if you have questions and/or if you would like to participate:

pa4autism@uab.edu

Dr. Jereme Wilroy | University of Alabama at Birmingham| Department of Physical Therapy